VERSION 1.0

REQUIREMENTS

After Effects 24.0 (2024) or newer, macOS or Windows. An internet connection is needed once for license or trial activation.

INSTALLATION

The easiest way to install and license is the aescripts + aeplugins manager. To install a trial, choose ‘Add Trial’ from the ‘Account’ menu.

```
Get the manager: aescripts.com/learn/aescripts-aeplugins-manager-app
```

```
Alternative: ZXP/UXP Installer — aescripts.com/learn/zxp-installer
```

Restart After Effects, then open the panel from Window › Extensions › Stash. Dock it where your Project panel used to live.

YOUR FIRST FIVE MINUTES

Search as you think

Type in the search field — results filter live. The ? button lists keywords for narrowing by type and usage.

Filter chips

One click shows only comps, footage, or missing items. Build your own chips with custom rules in Settings.

Two views, zoomable

Toggle list and grid at the bottom left. Press + and – to zoom either view.

Drag naturally

Drag items between folders, straight into comps, or hold over a folder to spring it open.

Reveal in Stash.jsx (included) adds a keyboard shortcut that jumps from any selected layer straight to its source in the panel. To install, use File › Scripts › Install Script File in After Effects and choose the file, then restart. Assign a key under Edit › Keyboard Shortcuts — search for ‘Reveal in Stash’.

TRIAL & LICENSING

Your trial is the full product for 14 days.

When it ends, Stash asks for a license code: enter it from the lock screen, the status-bar badge, or Settings › License. Licenses at aescripts.com/stash.

SUPPORT

If something misbehaves, open a support ticket at aescripts.com/stash and mention your After Effects version and OS. Bug reports with a screen recording get fixed fastest.
